

Barack Obama was inaugurated as president of the United States of America three days ago. Obama said the Oath and speech in front of the Capitol building in Washington D.C. On the lawn of the mall. It was the most people in history. The people that could not go there watched it on TV. Here is some background, information and goals of President Barack Obama.

What I know about president Barack Obama is that he is the first African-American president United States history. Also, he is the forty-fourth president. He was born in Honolulu, Hawaii. Later on, he was married to Michelle. When he was 37, he had his first daughter. Her name is Sasha and she is ten years old. His younger daughter is seven years old and her name is Malia. The Obama family now has a puppy. I also know that when Barack Obama was 4 years old, his father went back to Kenya, Africa. His American mother raised Obama and his father never came back to see him. Even though his father was not around, he became very smart and successful.

President Barack Obama has many goals. One main goal that Barack Obama is trying to achieve is his goal to fix our horrible economy. The problem is that every company or stockholders are trying to sell the stocks instead of trying to buy them. When nobody buys the stocks, the economy goes downhill.

Another problem that Barack Obama is aiming to solve is ending the war between United States and Iraq. My father told me that president George W. Bush put so much money into the war and that America has very little money left to put into the economy.

Now, Barack Obama will also face problems like global warming. Scientists predict that once the ice melts, it can flood the lower parts of Manhattan. This is very scary! I am positive that President Obama will do something and may even solve them all.