

Our New President

Name: Samantha 2nd Grade

Barack Obama is our new President! He has a wife named Michelle, a seven year old daughter named Sasha, and another ten year old girl named Malia. Inauguration day was very long. A woman read a poem, an orchestra played a song, and Barack Obama made a twenty minute speech. It seemed like hours!

Obama was born in Hawaii. He called his grandfather "gramps" and his grandmother "toot." (They call grandmothers "tutu" in Hawaii.) Later, he moved to Indonesia with his mother. That was when his younger sister, Maya, was born. His friends there called him "Barry." He also had a stepdad. Later he moved back to Hawaii and lived there until he graduated from high school. He was a lawyer and a teacher for a few years.

Soon, he met Michelle. She was a lawyer too. Then Barack Obama became a candidate for the presidency against John McCain. John McCain had a daughter and a wife. Some people didn't pick McCain because he was old and some people didn't choose Obama because he was black.

But anyway, Barack Obama won and became the President of the United States!
