

President Barack Obama is the 44th president. He gave a speech on Inauguration day [Jan. 20th 2009] at Washington D.C. It started at 12:00 noon. President Obama and Vice president Biden were sworn into an office by taking an oath. That's where Barack Obama gave his speech, he talked about the war in Iraq, people who settled America, the economy, education and health care.

Barack Obama has two daughters, Malia and Natasha. Malia is ten years old and Natasha is seven years old. Now that Barack Obama has more space in the white house he bought his two daughters a puppy.

Barack Obama's father is from Kenya, Africa. His father was an immigrant and his mother was an American. Barack Obama has a wife and her name is Michelle Obama. Barack Obama also wants to end the war in Iraq.

I think Barack Obama is a good president. He is the first African American president. I think Barack Obama is ready to be the 44th president because he studied a lot of stuff when he was a child. If Barack Obama does all these, he might be elected for president again.