

Our New President

Barack Obama is our new president. I was surprised that he is an African-American because we've never had an African-American president. I think it is surprising that already a black person becomes president. The other 43 presidents were all white.

Obama's wife is Michelle. She is the new first lady. He also has two daughters named Malia (10 years old) and Sasha (7 years old). Malia and Sasha are going to go to a live show to see Hannah Montana and the Jonas Brothers. They are also going to get a new puppy!

I think Barack Obama will be a very good president. That's because he made very good speeches and many people voted for him. I hope our new president, Barack Obama, will change a lot around here and make the U.S.A a better place.
