

My Dream...

I have a dream that people will get their jobs back. Lots of people lost their jobs because there isn't enough money for the workers. We spent too much money on weapons and swords for the war. The businesses are getting items from other countries because it is more cheaper there. People who work here get fired.

People who get fired will affect other people. Also, people get fired because people don't buy products. They might have to spend less money. The people will have to buy cheaper things. If people will not get fired then people will be happy.
