

I have a dream about not polluting. If we pollute, it will cause global warming. What I would do is create a bigger consequence for polluting. People might pollute in the oceans. That will kill many fish. It will also make the ocean poisonous. We also cannot breathe if the air is polluted.

If we keep polluting, global warming will keep increasing. That means the earth's temperature will keep on rising. Soon, the glaciers in the north and south pole are going to melt. Therefore animals will be killed. It will flood the land and everybody will drown.

If we keep polluting it might get into the water. It will kill sea creatures. If sea creatures die we might not be able to eat them. Sharks will die because they eat fish. If there are no fish, sharks will starve. And whatever eats the shark will die because they won't have anything to eat.

If we keep polluting, we might poison the air. If the air is poisoned then plants and animals shall die. It will kill plants because we create carbon dioxide. Plants need carbon dioxide to live. If we cannot breathe, then carbon dioxide would not be created. Therefore, if humans and animals die, plants will die also.

To stop polluting we should always recycle. We should not use oil, too often. Oil will create pollution. If you drive your car, smoke will come out of it and create pollution. We should install solar panels. It will help us get solar energy. We won't have to use oil. We should also save energy. If we keep polluting the ozone layer will keep creating holes. The earth will keep getting hotter and hotter.

I have a dream that people will stop polluting. This essay proved that polluting is not good. I hope this essay taught you about how polluting is wrong. Pollution can kill animals that depend on oxygen to live. There are many reasons why pollution is bad.
