

My Dream...

I have a dream that the world will have peace. We can have peace if the wars end. That way no people will die. If any war starts I will end it. I do not want death to lots of people. I want people to live. Everyone deserves life not death.

Just like wars, bullies aren't what we want. Bullies try to do mean stuff to people. In order to stop this we must tell an adult what's happening. If not the person being bullied will still be bullied. People do not like bullies. You have to tell an adult if anyone, including you gets bullied.

There is a way I can stop violent things. I will take away all guns, swords, and anything that will hurt people. I will make violence no longer exist. I should see everyone walking around the street happily. If this can happen then I will be happy.
