

My dream is for the community to have more money so people won't lose their jobs. Sometimes there is no money left so people just ~~fire~~ fire other people. And when they have enough money they just ^{hire} ~~higher~~ other people and the people that are fired just have to waste more money on another job.

I also dream that going on vacation won't be so expensive. This way, people won't have to spend so much money. They won't lose their money so quickly. People will have to spend more on other good things.

I also dream that there would
