

March 2009

The Lucky day

Name: Queenia Grade 5

"Mother"! I yelled. I was sitting near the TV and eating cereal. I had forgotten to take the cereal off of my lap and I had stood up and spilled it every where.

Mother had came into the room wearing a mask over her head when I said, "What are you suppose to be, a leprechaun you silly!" My mother replied "Don't you remember today is St. Patrick's Day?" "Oh Yeah" I said, looking kind of disappointed.

I ran to the yard but I didn't realize the milk had not been mopped from the floor. I suddenly fell painfully to the floor. "Oh My gosh" My mother said. But she had not seen the milk right in front of her.

Suddenly she fell on top of me. Mother got up looking very upset. I felt sorry for her and started to run out side.

I thought today was the worst day ever. Later on my friend came over to say hi. She was so happy because it was St. Patrick's day. On the other hand I was so grumpy that I had just fell onto the grass when suddenly a huge bug landed on me. I started running around and screaming at the top of my lungs until I was out of energy.

After my friend left I went inside for lunch. I had not expected the lunch to be green beans and corn on top of mashed potatoes. It looked so disgusting! So I ran into the Bathroom and stayed in there awhile thinking about how to find a nicer mother and change this day a better one.

