

March

2009

A Comet with Luck

Name: Sunny Zhao 4th 90

10,000 centuries ago, there was a boy named Patrick. The year was 200 in Ireland. Boom! Patrick's den suddenly got smashed by a comet. On the comet there was a letter.

It read:

"We shall destroy your race and turn your planet into a outmeal factory.

love,

the non-deadly aliens

P.S. There is no intelligent life in outer space, so don't expect much from us?"

Patrick was shocked and surprised. He told the police about the note as soon as possible. The police laughed when Patrick said the word "alien". They laughed so hard that the police had to go to the hospital for surgery. The police hurt one of their organs when they were laughing. The police will now have to wait 300,000 years for a doctor to figure out how to slice a body open without killing the human.

The aliens came 30 years later. Just like the letter read, "there is no intelligent life in outer space". They forgot to add fuel to their warships so they flew into a blackhole because of the fuel shortage. Their ships blew up but the aliens survived.

They took 10 years to get back to the planet "stupid" 10 years at their planet's amusement park because they were hungry and bored. Then they took 10 years to get to Earth in their new warships. When they arrived, the aliens were already a year old, but to the aliens, they were already 99 years old. The aliens were old, fat, and tired because of their trip to Earth and to the amusement park.

They lost the battle to Ireland before the aliens could even hold up a sun. The people of Ireland thanked Patrick for trying to warn them about the invasion. They named the day that he was born, "St. Patrick's day". They also thanked him for giving Ireland a main attraction. The people of Ireland made billions of dollars once they put the aliens in a circus.